

The Fishmongers' Company

David Robertson

Prime Warden of the Fishmongers' Company 2018-2019

David was born in London in 1953 and from the age of 4 he was brought up in Lower Froyle, Hampshire. After leaving school, he trained to be an accountant and then went into what is now known as the securities industry (formerly The Stock Exchange), in which he was involved for the whole of his working life until he retired in 2015.

David joined the Fishmongers' Company in 1984 and was elected on to the Court in 2003. He has much enjoyed the social side of the Company, particularly the Golfing Society, golf being his major passion.

In between chairing his local Village Hall Committee and part-time editing the village magazine, David's interests include running the local shoot (although he has now hung up his 20-bore); gardening, particularly tending to his fairly small vegetable plot; and last but not least he is a stalwart, if rather pessimistic, supporter of Southampton Football Club. In addition to golf, David much enjoys taking their completely unruly cocker spaniel, Milly, for walks through the unspoilt local countryside; now if only she would learn not to chase golf balls, she would get so many more.....

David continues to live in Lower Froyle with his wife, Susie, and they celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary in June this year. Susie is a terrific cook, works part-time for the National Trust at the Vyne at Sherborne St John and is a keen wildlife enthusiast; they have two sons, Charlie (23) and Alec (21).
